How it works

First download an app to your mobile phone. The card terminal connects to the app on your phone using Bluetooth™. The app links to the card terminal to manage the payment amount. The smart phone will usually use WiFi or a Mobile Signal to communicate with the payment systems.

You can decide the amount you want to charge via the Smartphone App and the cardholder can either tap their card on the device to make a contactless payment or insert their card into the slot in the bottom of the device and type their PIN on the secure terminal PIN pad. The terminals are Barclaycard branded to provide that extra reassurance to cardholders.

Cardholders can request a receipt which will be emailed to them if they enter their email address into the mobile phone app. The email address is not stored. There is no printed paper form of receipt so no till rolls to buy or run out.

What number of Barclaycard Anywhere card terminals do you require?

If you wish to track and reconcile the performance of different parts of your organisation's activities, then you can do this in one of two ways:

- You can have multiple terminals using the same merchant account (MID) but different usernames for different areas/people in your organisation. You can log into the Barclaycard App to download reports and analyse the User IDs that generated the transactions, or
- You can have multiple merchant accounts (MIDs) which will settle separately to your bank account, each requiring their own terminal.

If you wish to have different descriptions appearing on your client's bank statements or provide receipts from different parts of your business with different details, then only different MIDs will provide a solution.

Please complete for each Merchant ID Number that you want to use. Please copy the page if necessary.
